

Indigenous Community Sport Development Grant

Does your sport organization or group already have Indigenous youth participating? Would you like to welcome more? Is there a barrier making it harder for Indigenous youth athletes to participate, develop or stay involved? We may be able to help.

South West District, in partnership with Sask Sport, is working to make it easier for Indigenous youth athletes to participate, develop and continue in community sport.

Tell us about the opportunity, what's getting in the way, and what might make a difference.

The application is short and simple, and South West District staff can help you complete it.

Funding may support new, expanded or enhanced organized sport opportunities, including:

- sport equipment and resources;
- qualified coaching or instruction;
- registration and participation costs;
- skills development opportunities;
- facility rental;
- in-province transportation or travel for eligible sport activities;
- league or competitive participation; or
- other eligible costs that help increase, strengthen or sustain Indigenous youth participation in organized sport.

Not sure if your organization or group is eligible? Not incorporated as a nonprofit? That's okay, talk to us.

South West District can help determine whether your sport opportunity is eligible and whether an eligible community partner may be needed.
